ROSIE THE RIVETER CHARTER HIGH SCHOOL

The new Rosie the Riveter Charter High School is a tuition-free, public charter school designed to immerse students in a rigorous learning environment that engages their interests built on the integration of intellectual and hands-on technological success. Rosie the Riveter Charter High School is based on three design principles: personalization through a low student-teacher ratio; adult world connection through on-site visits to various workplaces, internship, and interaction with adult panelists; and common intellectual mission through elimination of ability grouping such as separation of advanced placement courses.

Applications are now being accepted for the current Fall Semester. Applicants must be 14-18 years of age and entering the 9th grade or higher.
